Drama managed to make students interact actively and enthusiastically in civic education. It is certainly easier for the teacher to make students understand the lesson easily. Students no longer feel bored with the process of learning that takes place. They are easy considering the figures in history who played in the drama without having to memorize one by one because they only have to remember their friends' name, who plays the character in the script and they immediately recall the name of a character in the drama. No students were passive in the drama. The students also able to learn directly the character of the figures in the Detik-detik Proklamasi event. This build the students' character slowly as they ever felt directly the feeling of become a heroes for their nation. The test results also showed a pretty good improvement. There is an increase in the number of students who answered questions correctly compared the test results before treatment. Questionnaire results and observations also showed improved understanding, liveliness and motivation in learning process. Interviews showed the difficulties experienced by students in cycle 1 is no longer experienced in cycle 2 with a few changes made in cycle 2.

1. INTRODUCTION

In line with the ideals of the Indonesian Nation that is listed in the preamble of the 1945 Constitution for the welfare of the public and intellectual life of the nation, character education became one of the important things is applied as one way to improve the quality of human resources is virtuous. Education exact character can have positive effects in creating a variety of social consequences that are beneficial (Pritchard, 1988) against a person when acting as a private, family, and community. Some studies show that students who are disciplined, willing to work hard, and understand the nature of learning showed higher learning achievement than students who do not have the values of the character. These findings indicate that the formation of character can also improve the quality of students' academic skills (Ginsburg and Hanson, 1986). Hopefully, the right character education form the personality of a person into a good person who can not undermine the independence of the independence that was retaken by our heroes.

Character education can be taught directly or indirectly with the emphasis on the importance of cultural fusion and social interaction in the community (Duncan, 1997). During this time the most prominent character education in Indonesia contained in the subject Civic Education as a foundation for each student to shape their character in the future and to inculcate the spirit of nationalism in the student themselves. However, in practice, there are some difficulties experienced by students and teachers in the teaching process such as the Citizenship Education; Teachers still use the lecture method of teaching that make student bored, students can not understand the material presented by the teacher with a good, value students who are under the minimum limit, students pay less attention to the lesson, and students are less active in the learning process. Such problems can be overcome by using appropriate teaching techniques. Mini Drama can be an alternative technique that can be applied in the teaching of Civics.

2. USING DRAMA IN TEACHING CHARACTER EDUCATION INSIDE OF CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

Overcome the problems experienced by students and teachers in the teaching of character education is not easy. However, there must be a way to try to overcome these problems. One way is, students need to know certain moral level to be able to be thinkers about morals and should be encouraged to frequently using stories, traditional and classical poetry, as well as tasks that contain ideas about morality and good things so that they will understand what they do, or they memorize and then they would see as a reality in life (Benninga, 1991). Drama is one of the ways that fit these criteria.

Drama is regarded as an effective strategy for its ability to make learning active, reflective, constructivist and improve oral skills (Miccoli, 2003). Drama in civic education using Indonesian history is a fact of life in the past that teach moral of our heroes of the past. This can increase the awareness of students to have good morals and character as the hero of Indonesia for students to join the independence which has been obtained by our heroes with difficulty. Drama can make students to feel what is experienced by the heroes of our past are active and real, so they are easier to remember things contained in the incident along with the names of the characters in it. Drama can provide authentic learning for many abilities and intelligence used in the application of the drama itself (Hay and Sally, 2005). They will unconsciously memorize and recall the role and character in the drama portraying and friends. This is in line with the opinion of Hay and Sally (2005) that "Students enjoy the activities, work together in groups and share Reviews their creative expressions. Even the shyest students are Able to benefit from the drama when they take on a new role and imagine Themselves to be someone else ". Drama can also create lessons learned so memorable and longer remembered because played significantly by the students themselves and in groups that demands they play an active role together without exception as the opinion of Confucius (in wahidmurni, 2008: 121) that what I hear, I forget. What I see, I remember, and what I do, I understand.

3. PROKLAMASI KEMERDEKAAN'S IMPORTANT EVENT PRESENTED IN MINI DRAMA

In the drama that will be done by students in the classroom, there will be three important events in the Declaration of Independence. These events include: The debate, formulate Text of Detik-detik Proklamasi and the Proclamation. Here are the events that must be shown in the drama students. The events are based on records of the moment of the Proclamation of August 17, 1945 which was written by the Special Staff of the Republic of Indonesia State Secretary Prof. Dr. H. Dadan Wildfire, M. Hum. In the mini-drama of the student, they will follow these notes to keep the authenticity of the events of Detik-detik Proclamation. The following is an example of summary from one of the three events.

a. Detik-detik Proklamasi

On Friday in the month of Ramadan, at 05.00, the dawn of August 17, 1945 radiating in the eastern horizon. Morning dew still hanging over the edge of the leaves. The leaders of the nation and the youth leaders out of the house of Admiral Maeda, suffused with pride after formulating the text of the Proclamation until dawn. They, have agreed to proclaim the independence of Indonesia that day at home Soekarno, Pegangsaan Timur No. 56 Jakarta, at 10.00 am. Bung Hatta had advised the young man who worked in the press and news agencies, to reproduce the text of the proclamation and spread it all over the world.

The event, followed by the raising of the flag. Soekarno and Hatta took a few steps down the last steps of the stoop, approximately two meters in front of the pole.

The flag is raised slowly. Without the lead, the audience spontaneously burst into song Indonesia Raya. Flag hoisted at a snail's pace, to adjust to the rhythm of the song Indonesia Raya is quite long. After the flag raising, followed by a speech from the Mayor Soewirjo and dr. Muwardi.

Fortunately there is Frans Mendur of the plate IPPHOS film stayed three pieces (there was as yet no roll of film). So from all over the historic event, there are only three documented; ie when Bung Karno read the text of the Proclamation, during the flag raising, and some of the photos the audience who witnessed the incident.

"Echoes liberty bell" sounded to all corners of the archipelago and spread throughout the world. Young people, students, and employees of the Indonesian nation at the nexus of the extension services are essential zealous proclamation was broadcast contents throughout the country. Indonesian journalists who worked on the Japanese news agency Domei, though has been sealed by the Japanese government, they are trying to spread the proclamation that echoes throughout the world.

4. METHOD

This study uses Action Research. Classroom action research is the research activities carried out by observing the learning activities are given specific treatment to solve the existing problems in the class (Paizaluddin and Ermalinda (2014). The study was applied to the second class of 10 regular MAN 2 Madiun in the academic year 2016 selected randomly. Total student in the class totaled 76 students. the research was conducted in two cycles using the test, interview, questionnaire and observations as triangulation data. In cycle 1, students will work in groups containing 14 students in Group 1 (students with a light role will play back on another group of personnel shortages). While on cycle 2 1 group consists of 8-14 students. There are two tests conducted pre-test and post-test to ensure the improvement of the results obtained by students after treatment is done. The observations were made from the beginning to the end of the study. the interviews were conducted 70 times that before doing research to find out the difficulties experienced by students and teachers before the treatment is done and at the end of cycle 1 to determine the difficulties experienced by students and teachers in the process of implementing Mini Drama do. Questionnaire done before treatment is done and at the end of second cycle is done to ensure the success of the treatment is done.

5. DISCUSSION

Questionnaire Result

From the results of the questionnaire appears that there is considerable improvement in students and teachers. Students become more active, passionate, motivated and easier to remember events, the contents of the dialogue and the names of the characters in the event of Seconds Proclamation do so because they like being in a real event by performing the play.

Observation and Interview Result

Judging from interviews and observations in cycle 1, the student is still not too enthusiastic about it because the dialogue created by teachers and students too long so difficult to remember. One group had to practice a whole scene of three events there so that too many members in one group (14 people). Students are bored because one group spent a lot of time and other groups should be the same scenes.

Based on the result of observations and interviews in cycle 1, finally made reflection and planning activities of the implementation techniques of mini drama in the classroom. In cycle 2, students are allowed to create their own drama dialogue script (according to a note on the Secretariat of State) so that the drama is not monotonous and more relaxed. One group played one event only. One group contains only 8-14 students according to the events that they get through the lottery. Any dialogue must call the name of the character who talk so that students easily remember the name of the existing figures.

Here is the percentage increase in the number of students who answered correctly on each number of the question in cycle 1 and cycle 2.

18 Diagram 5.2. Comparison between the Percentage of students who answered correctly on each number of the question in cycle 1 and cycle 2.

From the results of triangulation of data that have been obtained can be explained that the interview cycle 1 students showed good response to applied learning methods, students liked and did not get tired of the method applied learning. In an interview conducted in cycle 2 showed a better response in accordance with the student applied learning method capable of making it easier to master materi student learning and students are no longer assume that Civic Education is learning a difficult and tedious.

While the results of observations that have been made in cycle 1 shows students who are active in their learning and take to heart as much as 54% or 10 students who are active, while 10 other students tend to speak sediri or not paying attention. The results of the observation cycle 2 showed a good response compared to cycle one of the observation of cycle 2 showed 85% of students active in learning and doing his part in the group well. Then the results of the answers to each student at cycle 1 indicates that all students are able to answer the question it's just the answer is short and not too detailed. While on the second cycle of the answers to each of the students have started using their own languages and other students brave to add his opinion. The results showed that the method Mini Drama make students able to master the material. In addition, students are also able to work together in groups, the atmosphere in the classroom more lively and siswapun value showed an increase.

76 students as sample due to the value of Civics students does not meet the standard or below average, after the application of the methods Mini Drama at study showed satisfactory results. All of these students have been able to achieve an average or KKM.

Evidence that evidence supports what is disclosed peter Sheal (in wahidmurni, 2008: 121) that if teachers / lecturers teach with a lot of lectures, student / student will be given only 20% for students just listen, otherwise if teachers / professors ask students to do something and report it then they will remember as much as 90%.

Implementation of the second cycle fix vulnerabilities occurring in the first cycle so as to minimize errors made by teachers and students so that the percentage obtained in cycle 1 for the student activity 72% and in cycle 2 obtain a score of 85%. From these results show that there has been a significant increase from cycle 1 to cycle 2. The value of all the students in the class already exceed the minimum specified value and students can absorb the lesson that there very well could therefore be concluded that the research is successful and staple discussion is complete.

6. CONCLUSION
